Sam Pavel

Drumset, Percussion,
Music Theory

When I have free time outside of performing and teaching, I love surfing at Mission Beach and hiking the local trails.

Sam Pavel brings a wealth of performing experience into his teaching studio. Sam has been teaching drum set and percussion since 2012, and takes pride in sharing his knowledge of music. Sam creates lesson plans that help students progress toward their long term goals, keeping lessons fresh, exciting, and fun! He believes that creating a musician isn't only about playing the notes, but creating an inspiring performance. Teaching to perform confidently, and without anxieties before performances, not only helps students as musicians, it also enriches their lives!

Sam graduated cum laude with a B.F.A. in Music Performance from UW-Milwaukee. Sam performed as a marimba and timpani soloist with the UWM Percussion Ensemble and the Symphony Band. Currently pursuing a Master's Degree in percussion performance at SDSU, he also acts as Percussion Coordinator, aiding in teaching and conducting the SDSU Percussion Ensemble. On weekends he can be found performing at local venues and churches. With Sam you'll learn to create well-crafted beautiful music in a fun nurturing environment!
